

From Disintegrated Objects by Caroline Tabet. Image courtesy of Caroline Tabet and Oodee Press

The female photographers of Beirut by Oodee Books

Anna Seaman | June 2, 2015

Finally, I got around to blogging about this really cool collection of books published by London-based publishers Oodee Books. The latest edition of the POV Female series showcases the work of five young female photographers based in Beirut.

POV Female is an anthology of 25 books that aims to promote the work of young women photographers: five books by five young women photographers produced in five different cities in the world. The previous editions of POV Female took place in London (2011), Tokyo (2012), Johannesburg (2013), Bogota (2014).

The five photographers living and working in Beirut are: Ayla Hibri, Randa Mirza, Caroline Tabet, Lamia Maria Abillama and Lara Tabet. All five monographic books were launched in Beirut at the bookshop Papercup last week and I especially love the variety and breadth of the work. The snapshots of life really convey the diverse nature of the city and the many hidden depths of talent to be found across the region.

Go girls! We love this one.

* Find out more about the publishers here www.oodee.net or on instagram.com/oodeebooks and Twitter @oodee_books

Related

Art Of One: Inside the life of Myneand yours

Golden Beirut: Broad sweep of styles and influences

Sunday interview: Woman on a mission

Made in Beirut

Leave a reply

Comment

Log in to add a comment

Most Popular

Latest

Emirati artists Mohamed Al Mazrouei and Layla Juma to show at Swiss exhibition

Don't miss: Constructing Portraits show in Al Quoz, Dubai

More from Art

Louvre Abu Dhabi Stories: Immortal Figures, showcasing art from different civilisations, to open at Manarat Al Saadiyat

Shubbak puts UAE art on London streets

Barjeel show in Toronto shares Arab stories

Artist Issam Kourbaj talks about his latest work inspired by his Syrian homeland

The long read: why the Greek crisis has revived a pantheon of toiling heroes and reckless immortals

'El Chapo' pinatas are a hit in Mexico - video

Tweets by @LifeNationalUAE

The National
171,655 likes

Like Page

Share

Be the first of your friends to like this

The National
1 hr

So petrol up about 24%. Diesel down 29%. What are your thoughts on UAE's first deregulated fuel prices?

<http://www.thenational.ae/.../uae-fuel-prices-for-august-anno...>

